I was sitting on Kings Island Dr. waiting to turn ^{right} onto Western Row Rd. The lights were green. The person to my left was heading onto 71-S and ran into the dark car as they were turning left onto Western Row Rd. I had slowed down because it didn't appear that the car exiting 71-N was going to stop before turning left onto Western Row.

I was in the left turn lane on the I-71 N exit ramp at intersection of Western Row. The vehicle in front of me was waiting in the intersection to make a left hand turn onto Western Row. The light was green (but no green arrow) which was why the vehicle was waiting in intersection. As light turned yellow the vehicle started to make left hand turn. Approaching vehicle came through the intersection at an accelerated speed and struck the turning vehicle I believe on the upper right (passenger side), almost by the front of car. The 2 vehicles spun out. I could see the accident was going to happen before it did as I was the 1st car stopped in the left hand turn lane as the light turned yellow. The approaching car was coming on extremely fast & was not able to stop or react at all to the turning vehicle
